INTRODUCTION

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

Congresses of the International Society for Human and Animal Mycology (ISHAM) are only held every three years and provide clinicians, scientists and students an exciting opportunity to meet at an international forum dedicated solely to the study of medical mycology.

Thus, it is with great pleasure that we invite you to participate in the 21st ISHAM congress 2022 to be held in New Delhi, India & Online, from 20 – 24 September 2022. ISHAM congresses are well recognized for their innovative scientific programs and congeniality to foster friendships with other colleagues. Many lifelong professional friendships have been formed at ISHAM congresses.

The international & Local Scientific Committee members guarantee a strong and attractive scientific program spanning all the hot topics in medical and clinical mycology that will attract delegates from over all the world to come to New Delhi. The name "New Delhi" was given in 1927, and the new capital was inaugurated on 13 February 1931. New Delhi, also known as Lutyens' Delhi, was officially declared as the capital of the Union of India after the country gained independence on 15 August 1947. Delhi is a city that bridges two different worlds. Old Delhi, once the capital of Islamic India, is a labyrinth of narrow lanes lined with crumbling havelis and formidable mosques. In contrast, the imperial city of New Delhi created by the British Raj is composed of spacious, tree-lined avenues and imposing government buildings. Delhi has been the seat of power for several rulers and many empires for about a millennium.

We warmly invite you to participate in the worldwide most important medical mycology event and look forward greeting you in New Delhi in September 2022!

On behalf of the organising committee:

Dr. Arunaloke Chakrabarti, ISHAM President

GENERAL CONGRESS INFORMATION FOR SPONSORS / EXHIBITORS

About ISHAM

ISHAM is a worldwide organization that represents all clinical scientists and fundamental researchers with interest in fungal diseases and fungus-like infections.

ISHAM is an independent society that is non-political and non-discriminatory. It exists solely to encourage and facilitate the study and practice of all aspects of medical and veterinary mycology.

The Society aims to make recent developments in mycology available to everyone. We particularly try to help those who don't have sufficient means to participate in these developments, and therefore wish to devote a share of our resources to young mycologists and workers in developing countries.

ISHAM was founded in 1954 at the VII International Congress of Botany with 150 members and has subsequently expanded to become an international body representing more than 1000 individuals who work professionally with fungal diseases and pathogenic fungi.

Twenty three national medical mycology associations are affiliated with ISHAM. The society is a properly recognized non-governmental affiliate of the World Health Organisation. It sustains a co-operative working relationship with the International Mycological Association and the Mycology Division of the International Union of Microbiological Societies.

The aims of the ISHAM are:

- To increase knowledge and skills necessary for work in the field of (medical) mycology
- To prevent fungal infectious diseases and improve patient care.
- To promote knowledge and education in the field of (medical) mycology
- To promote the diagnosis and treatment of fungal related diseases.
- To promote and support research, education, training and good medical practice.
- To promote a scientific exchange, educational programmes

To facilitate on an international basis the exchange of ideas and information and provide assistance pertaining to medical and veterinary mycology

To publish the journals Medical Mycology and Medical Mycology Case Reports as a means of providing society members recent clinical and basic research information.

To organize an international congress at least once every three years
